

Susan Poteat, MS, DABR
United States

Susan Poteat is a volunteer serving as our liaison with the medical and scientific community. In her professional career, Susan worked first as a teacher and then for 25 years as a medical physicist in radiation oncology before retirement. Since her husband's diagnosis with kidney cancer in 2007, Susan has served the kidney cancer community as a volunteer patient navigator on SmartPatients.com, particularly in patient education. Her special interest is in clinical trials.
